DISCRIMINATION COMPLAINT PROCEDURE

Step 1: Complaint to the School District

In most cases, complaints must be filed within one year from the date of the discriminatory event. A complaint must be in writing, describe what happened, and state why you believe it is discrimination. It is also helpful to include what actions you would like the district to take to resolve your complaint. Complaints may be submitted by mail, email, or hand delivery to any District or school administrator, the Office of Student Civil Rights, or Human Resources.

When the school district receives your written complaint, you will be provided a copy of the District's discrimination complaint procedure. The Office of Student Civil Rights or Human Resources will then make sure that the school district conducts a prompt and thorough investigation. You may also agree to resolve your complaint without an investigation through an alternative dispute resolution process, such as mediation.

The school district must respond in writing within 30 calendar days after receiving your complaint unless you agree on a different date or an exceptional circumstances related to the complaint require an extension of the time limit. If the complaint takes more than 30 calendar days, you will be notified in writing about the reasons for the extension and the anticipated response date.

When the school district responds to your complaint, the response must clearly state whether the school district:

1. Denies the allegations contained in the complaint; or
2. Confirms the allegations and lists the corrective measures; and
3. Notice of your right to appeal, including where and to whom the appeal must be filed.

Step 2: Appeal to the School Board

If you disagree with the school district's decision, you may appeal to the school board or its designee. You must file a notice of appeal in writing to the secretary of the school board within 10 calendar days after you received the school district's response to your complaint.

A hearing will be scheduled within 20 calendar days after receipt of your appeal, unless you agree on a different timeline. You may bring witnesses or other information related to your appeal to the hearing.

A written decision will be sent to you within 30 calendar days after the district received your notice of appeal. The written decision will include information about how to file a complaint with the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction (OSPI).

Step 3: Complaint to OSPI

If you do not agree with the school district's appeal decision, you may file a complaint with the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction. A complaint must be filed with OSPI within 20 calendar days after you received the district's appeal decision. You may send your complaint to OSPI by e-mail: Equity@k12.wa.us; fax: (360) 664-2967; or mail: OSPI Equity and Civil Rights Office, PO Box 47200, Olympia, WA 98504-7200.
